Specification

If you are buying an item using a category or custom catalogue but are seeking supply of associated spares / accessories through ATC, you will not be able to get break up of price of such spares / accessories and seller will have to include the cost of such spares and accessories in the item cost - this will lead to charging of GST at the higher rates applicable for main equipment. It is therefore advised not to add any cost components through ATC and include these by using ICT functionality and by adding additional BoQ as part of Bunch with the main equipment so that separate price with separate GST can be reflected in contract.
